

THE CINCINNATI ENQUIRER

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, 2005

MASON

Port authority has board

The last step to establish a Mason port authority took place this week with the appointment of a five-member board of directors. City Council appointed Craig Ross, Jim Ashworth, Gordon Hullar, David Smith and Betty Davis, all Mason residents and business owners, to serve staggered four-year terms. Port authorities are economic development tools that can encourage projects, offer incentives and stimulate more investment. Mason established its authority in June.